SUGGESTED SERIES OF MOVIES FOR A COURSE IN URBAN PLANNING

All movies are in color and sound. The rating (excellent, good and fair) is based on evaluation by junior and senior students and also probably reflect in some instances the writer's value judgments. PSU stands for Pennsylvania State University, Audio-Visual Section, University Park, Pa.

This list contains, most probably, more material than an instructor would design in his curriculum. Selections should be made in consideration of fitting the design and content of the curriculum and of educational objectives. A full session presentation (75 minutes) of movies once a week (10 presentations in a 10-week term) has been extremely successful in achieving educational objectives of the writer's course. This can be improved with the scheduling of the sequence of movies so as to support the topics of the week discussed in the lecture-discussion sessions.

No movies produced before 1962 are included in the list. The only exception is The River, a classic from 1939, prepared by the Franklin Delano Roosevelt Administration during the "New Deal" era.
